What are your program's PFCE strengths?

What are your program's PFCE dreams?

What might be barriers or opportunities? (The real)

- What can get in the way of a family's engagement?
- What are the barriers that may exist within my role?
- What can get in the way of staff working together?
- What types of barriers might leaders face in implementing intentional PFCE?
- What are potential barriers within your program's structure?

Important Note!

In order for parent, family, and community engagement practices to be effective and have long-term impact for children and families, they need to be systemic, integrated, and comprehensive.

Systemic

- All staff in Head Start and Early Head Start programs have a role to play in promoting Parent, Family, and Community Engagement.
 - By Systemic PFCE, we mean that individuals understand the roles that they and others in their program play across systems and services.
 - They see how these roles work together to promote the vision of PFCE that they share.
 - PFCE is everyone's business.

Integrated

All parts of a program achieve better Parent, Family, and Community Engagement results by working together.

- By Integrated PFCE, we mean that everyone in Head Start and Early Head Start programs coordinates and reinforces each other's efforts in order to maximize their impact.
- Staff coordinate within and across their different roles and the services they provide. They also coordinate with community partners to help families access community activities and services and to provide seamless experiences for families.

Comprehensive

Program services are designed for holistic staff responses.

- By Comprehensive PFCE, we mean that staff consider the full range of strengths, interests, and needs of each child and family.
- Staff then connect families with all the available services and resources they need to achieve their goals.
- A comprehensive response increases the likelihood that progress in one area will reinforce progress in other areas.

Yellow Column Activity

At your table:

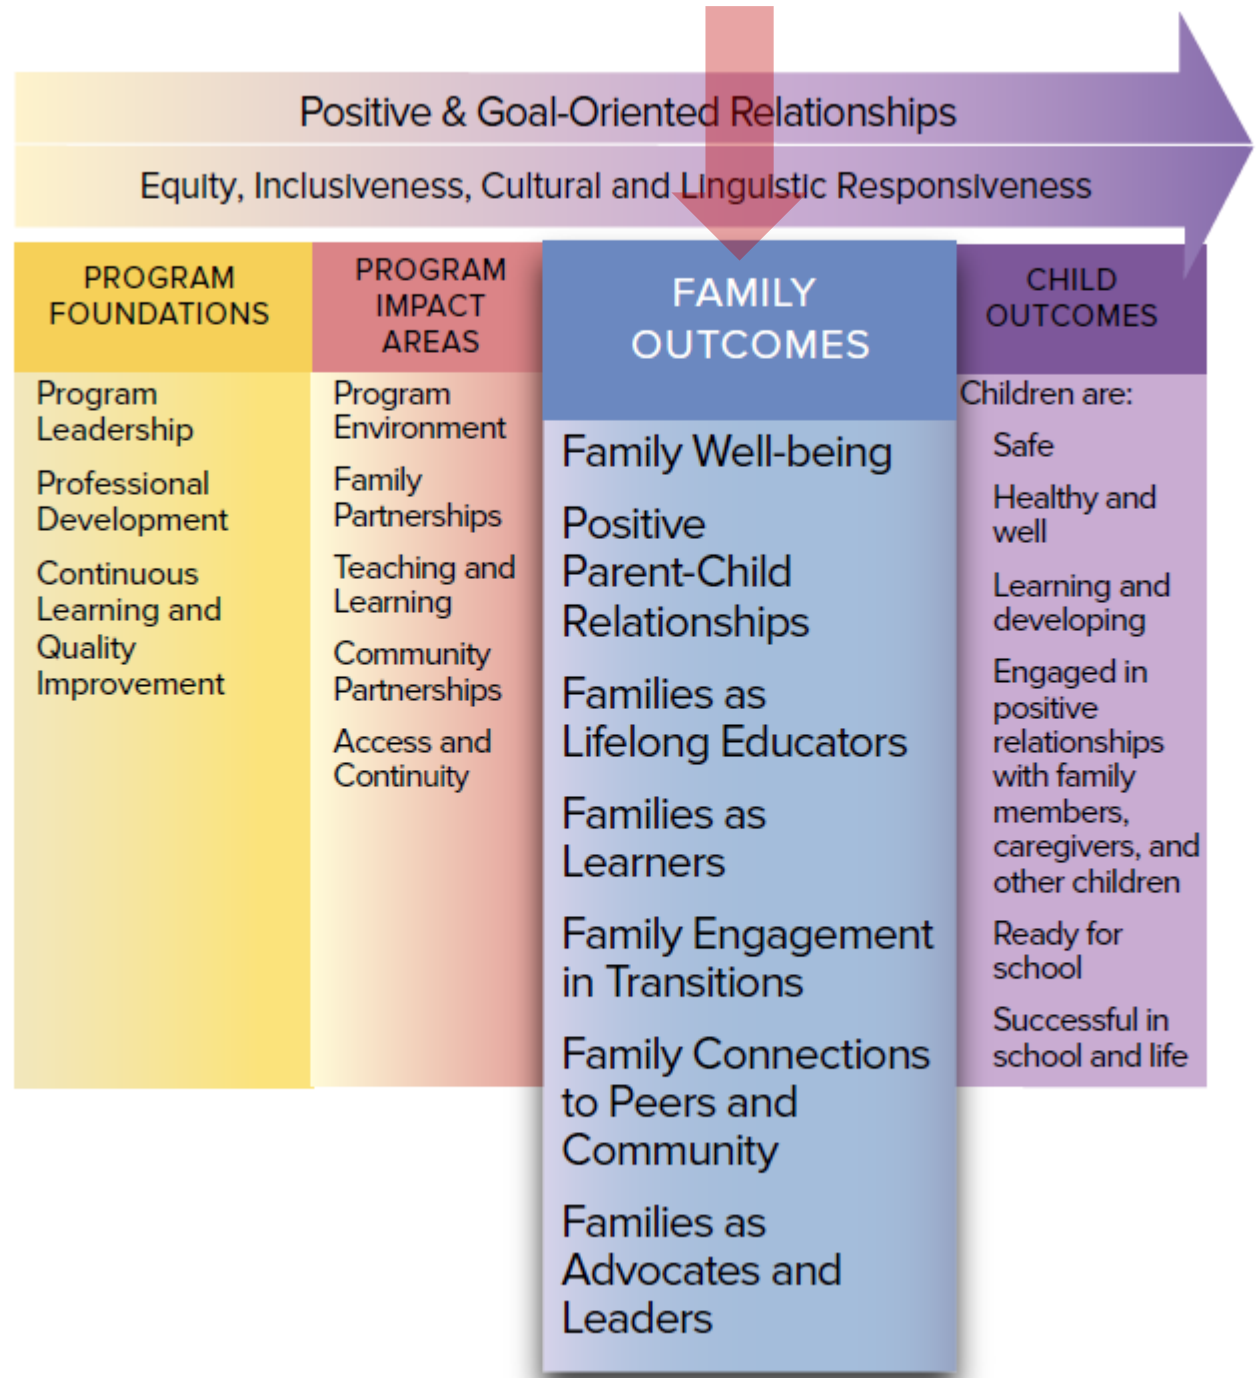

1. Look at the three elements of the Yellow Column in your Framework on page 16.
2. Review and discuss the statements.
3. Select one statement and answer the following:
 - How does this statement support your:
 - Work at the program level?
 - Work with colleagues?
 - Work with individual families?

Strategies for All Family Outcomes

Consider these examples of strategies that promote the achievement of all seven outcomes.

Family Outcomes

Assessing Family Well-Being

Families are safe, healthy, have opportunities for educational advancement and economic mobility, and have access to physical and mental health services, housing and food assistance, and other family support services.

- When you think about the families in your program, what aspects of well-being are priorities?
- How do you know which families need your support the most?
- How might you word a program goal to support families?

Exploring Foundations for Excellence

Exploring some key terms...

- Goals keep your eyes on the prize.
- Objectives help you hit the nail on the head.
- Outcomes are actual results.
Expected outcomes are forecasted.

Suggested ways to use this guide...

Use this Guide to:

- Support the development of both the baseline and continuing Head Start Grant Applications
- Evaluate and measure current goals and objectives
- Set goals, write objectives and outcomes, and develop action plans
- Plan leadership training related to oversight roles of the governing body/Tribal Council and Policy Council
- Discuss community assessment results with your program's management team
- Evaluate your strategic planning process

Making Connections from School Readiness to Family Engagement and Program Planning

Some Key Questions to Consider

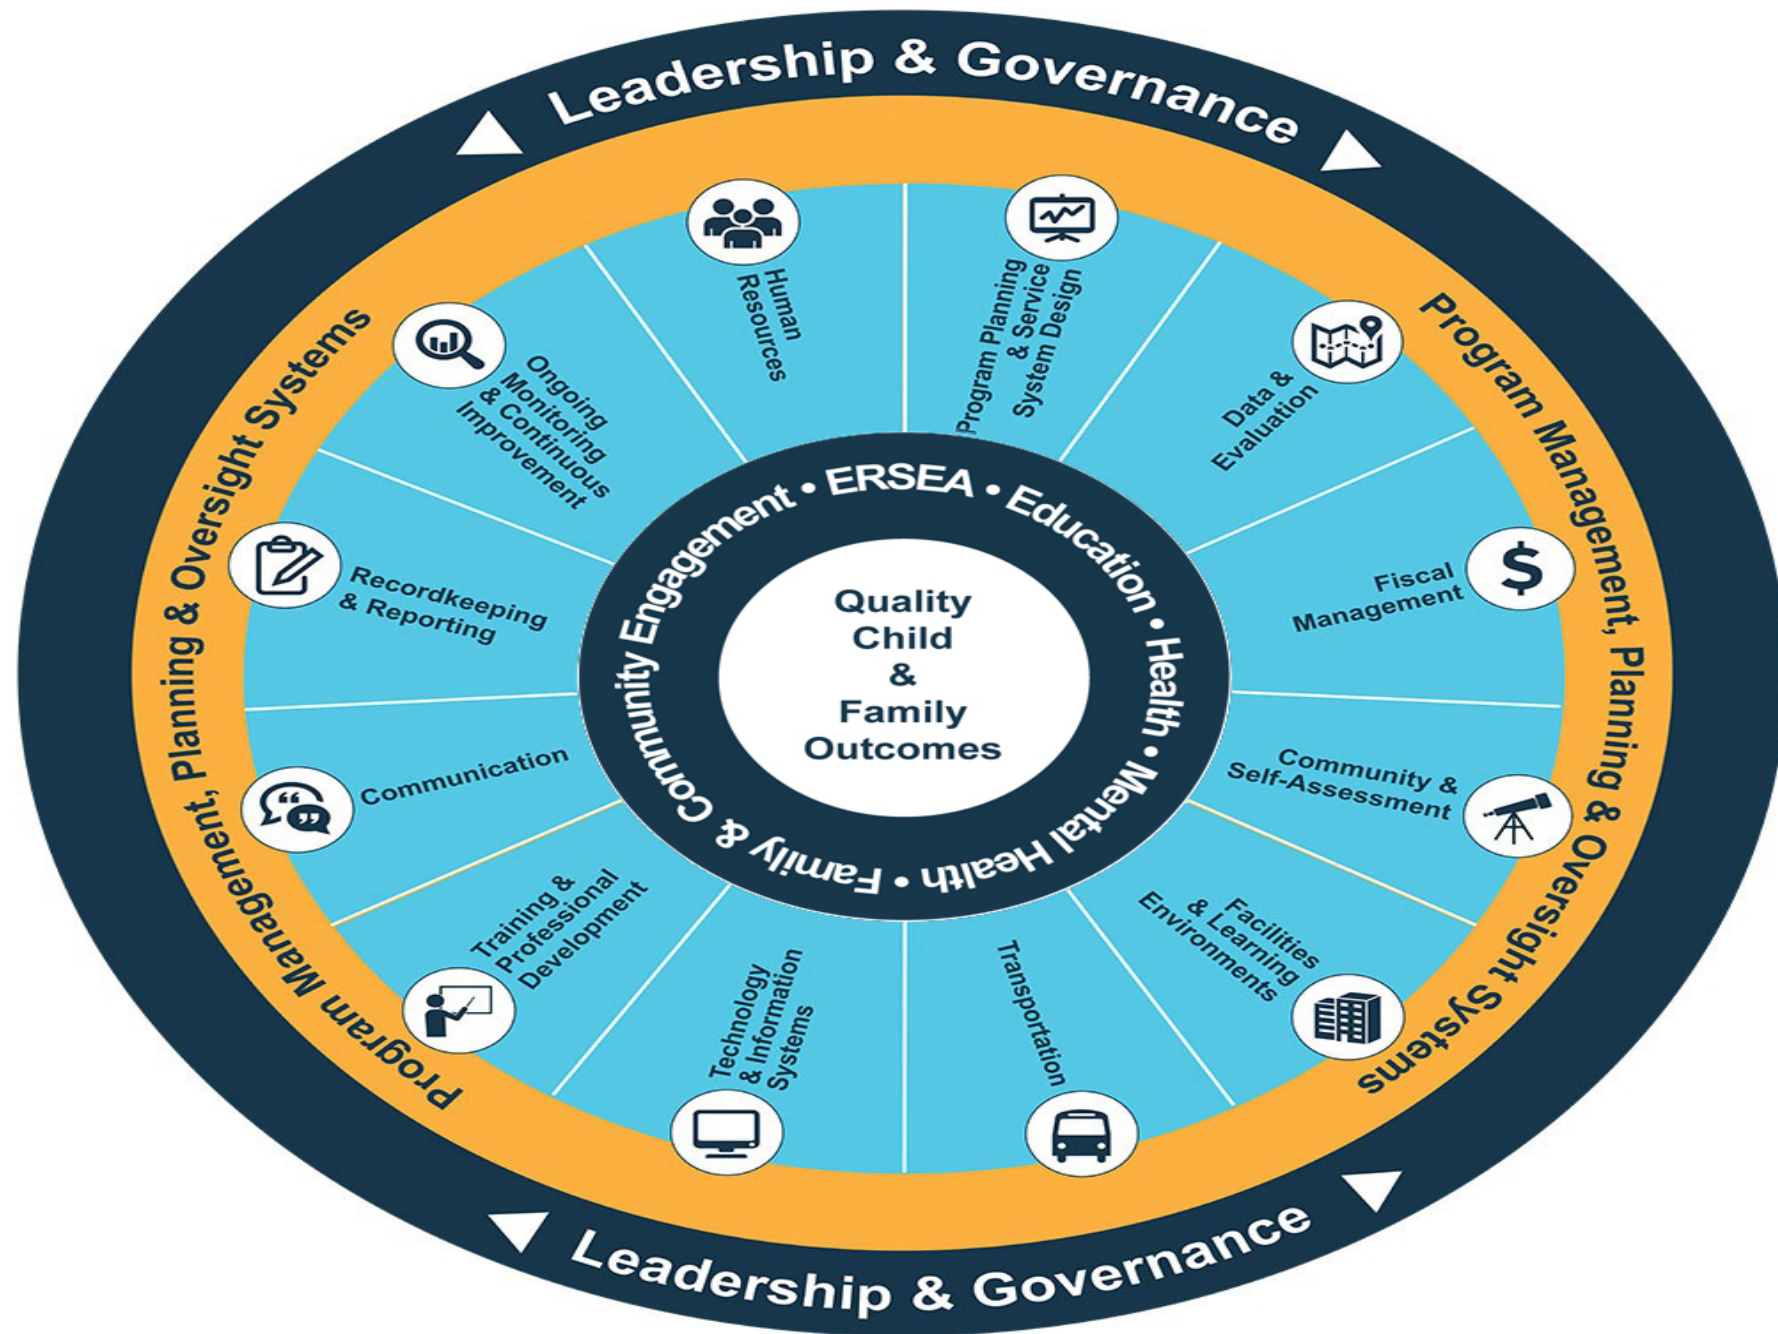

- What do we want?
- How are we doing?
- How do we know?
- Have we made a difference?
- How do we know?

Story-telling

- At your table read the story of Alecia and Joseph from the resource provided: ISPP Part Two: Pages 7 and 8
- Work together to answer the following questions:
 - What Family Engagement Outcomes did the story address?
 - Which Program Foundations did you see at work related to the strategies used in the story?
 - Which Program Impact Areas did you see at work related to the strategies used in the story?
- Use post-it note flags or circle the places on your Framework one-pager where you find connections.
- Be ready to share your reflections with the full group.

The stories we share...

Here is Lucy in her classroom...

Lucy is 3½. Six months ago, teachers collected data related to her expressive development using TS GOLD. They found that she was consistently scoring in the 5-7 range. At her most recent checkpoint, she was scoring in the 3-4 range.

Who needs to be connected in supporting Lucy?

- Mental Health Staff
- Leadership Staff

Here is Lucy's Family...

Lucy's family recently reported she is experiencing mouth pain. They are partnering with the Family Service Worker to schedule a visit to the dentist. The family has also expressed concern to the teacher that Lucy has recently been withdrawn and not as talkative as usual.

Here is Lucy's program...

Six months have passed and Lucy is now 4. Program Management recently implemented a “multidisciplinary team” meeting approach where the FSW and Teacher communicated about Lucy’s past mouth pain, the family’s role in working with the dentist to address it. Her teacher also reported that at her last checkpoint, Lucy scored 6s and 7s on the TS GOLD expressive development objectives. In fact, across the board, she is progressing toward desired school readiness outcomes. Very quickly, Lucy’s assessment reflected the family and the program’s collaborative approach.

Here is Lucy's community...

The family had no dental insurance which explained one of the reasons why the family did not visit earlier. Many other families had the same issue, therefore the program worked with their local dental community to seek support for those families who did not have access and invited one of the dentists to be part of their HSAC committee.

Let us try together...

Making Connections: What does the family want?

NATIONAL CENTER ON
Parent, Family and Community Engagement

MAKING CONNECTIONS

At your table, take turn sharing a goal/dream/hope that you are partnering with a family to achieve. Write the goal first and connect it with one or more of the PFCE Family Outcomes. Share what impact achieving this goal may have on the child's readiness for school and also discuss how this could connect with a goal or an objective your program wants to work on with all families or a group of families this year.

Goal/Dream/Hope	Family Outcome (s)	Impact on School Readiness	Connection to Overall Program Planning
Example: Mother wants to become a cook	Family Well-Being	Mother is able to get a job, is less stressed and prepares nutritious meals for her family = Child's health, social/emotional health is improved.	Program wants to Build Financial and Economic Mobility of families

Measuring What Matters

Year 1—Baseline Review				Years 2-5
Goals	Objectives	Expected Outcomes	Data Sources for Tracking Progress	Actual Outcomes	Analyzing Progress	Continuous Improvement
What does the program want to accomplish?	What does the program plan to do to meet the goal?	What does the program expect the results will be?	What data will let the program know how they are doing?	What were the program results?	Was progress made? How does the data explain the outcome/results? Is the program satisfied with the progress made?	What needs to happen next? Course corrections or keep going?

Program Planning Term		Example
P R E P A R E	1. Goals What does the program want to accomplish?	To ensure that all HS/EHS families have the knowledge and skills to effectively parent their children beginning in the pre-natal period through age 5.
	2. Objectives What does the program plan to do to meet the goal?	Objective 1: Increase the number of Parent Meetings from nine per program year to eighteen. Objective 2: Utilize an evidence-based parenting approach during at least twelve of the eighteen Parent Meetings. Objective 3: Forty percent of all parents will participate in the first year and 10% more parents will participate each subsequent year.
	3. Expected Outcomes What does the program expect the results will be?	Participating family members will form meaningful connections with other parents and increase their parenting knowledge and skills.
C O L L E C T	4. Data Tools and Methods for Tracking Progress What data will let the program know how they are doing?	The program will summarize data from program calendars and sign-in sheets. At the conclusion of the evidence-based parenting approach series, the program will conduct two focus groups of parents who have participated in at least five meetings. The program will collect short surveys from each parent before and after each Parent Meeting. The program will also look at the child assessment data of participating parents.
	5. Outcomes What were the program results?	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> The program conducted 8 Parent Meetings utilizing the evidence-based parenting approach in the first year and reached 30% of all parents, half of which were new to the program. An average of 20 parents came to each Parent Meeting, with low attendance of 17 and a high attendance of 26. 75% of participating fathers and 90% of participating mothers increased their knowledge about parenting. Parents who participated in focus groups reported increased connections with other families. Spring child assessments of social-emotional development were higher for the children of parents who participated in the evidence-based parenting approach than for those whose parents didn't participate in those meetings.
A N A L Y Z E	6. Analyzing Progress Was progress made? What other data would be useful to look at? What do you think about the progress made? What else?	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> The program made progress in terms of the quality of parent experiences. Participants in the evidence-based parenting approach will be outreaching to more parents which will help increase the network and support to more families. The program would like to know if the difference in child social-emotional development scores was just a coincidence or really an effect of the evidence-based parenting approach. The program is satisfied with the progress because they feel like there is great potential to continue to grow the evidence-based parenting approach as a valuable way to meet the goal.
	7. Continuous Improvement What needs to happen next? Course corrections or keep going? What else?	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> The program reports that they plan to use their data to improve the Parent Meetings and other family engagement opportunities. They also want to share results with families to provide feedback on the results of their involvement in the evidence-based parenting approach and to encourage them to ask other parents to participate. Their next steps are to include training for more parent facilitators, secure locations for better space and get more staff knowledgeable about engaging parents in the opportunity.

Parent, Family and Community Engagement

How Familiar Are You with the RBCs?

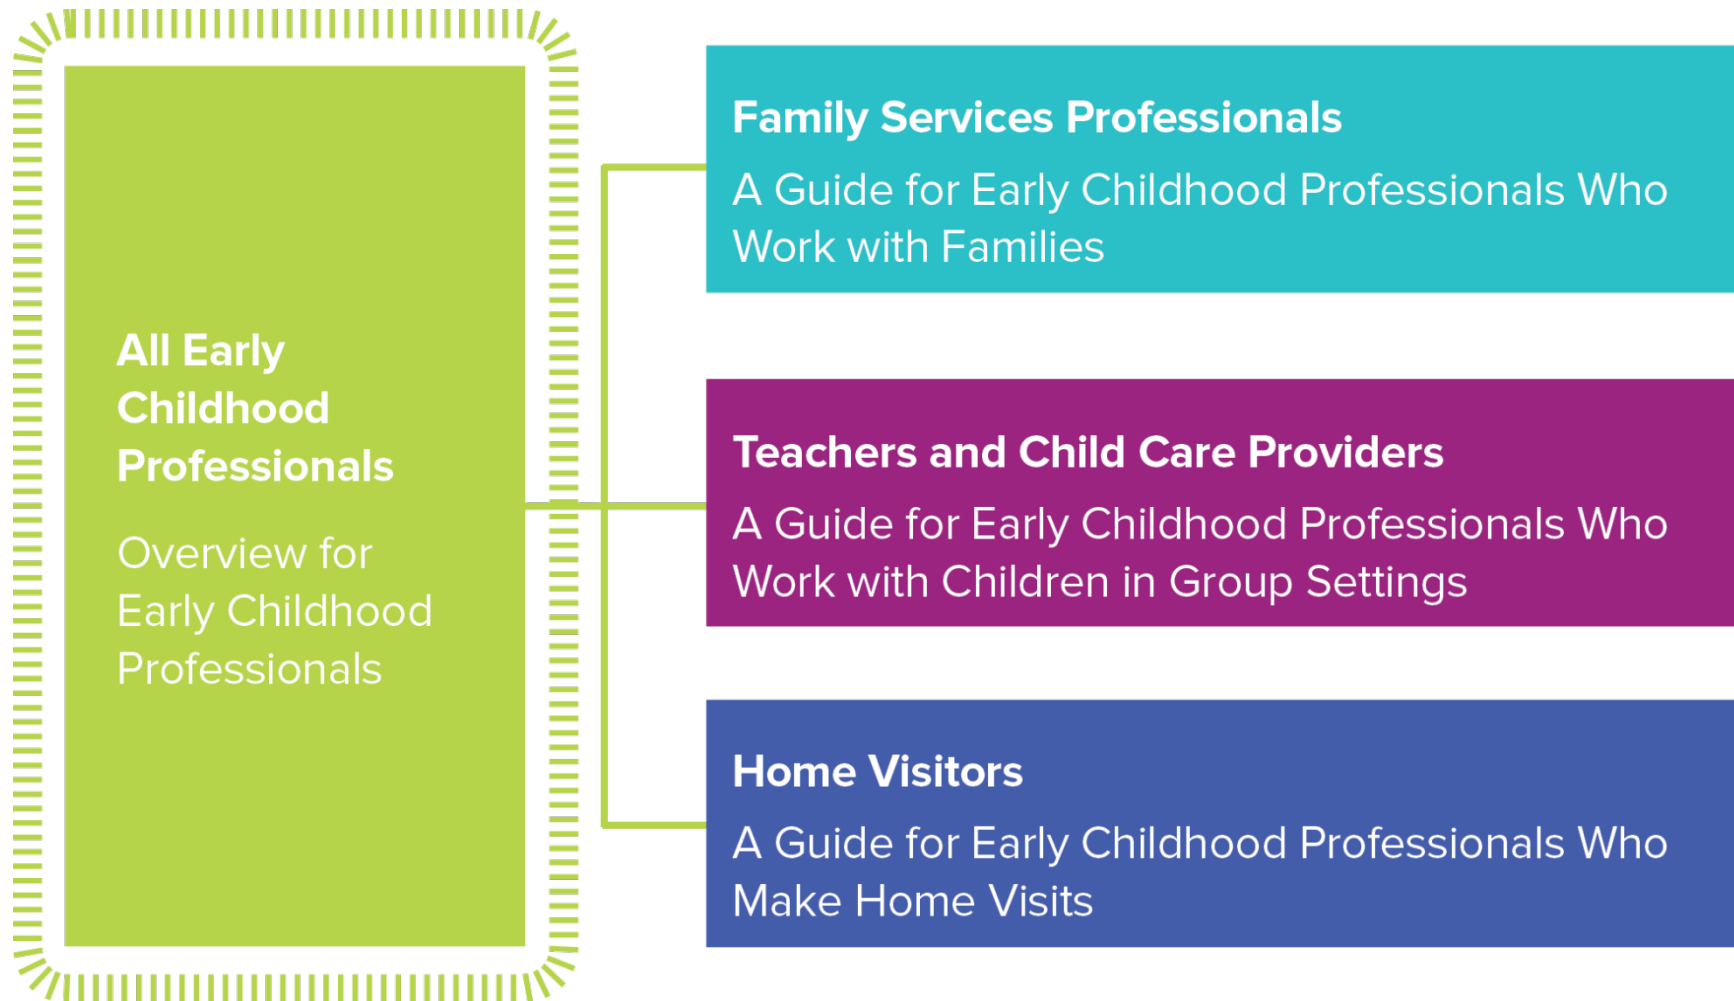

- ☐ “I know them, love them, live them”
- ☐ I have a general understanding, but don’t reference them regularly
- ☐ I’m familiar with them, but I need to better absorb their contents
- ☐ What is a Relationship-Based Competency (RBC)?

Definition: Relationship-Based Competency

A set of knowledge, skills, individual practices, and other characteristics, including attributes, behaviors, and actions, that are necessary to be effective in one's family engagement work.

New and Updated RBCs

History of the RBCs

Knowledge

“KEY” Terminology

- Knowledge is what professionals need to know
- +
- Skills are what professionals need to be able to do
- +
- Practices include key examples of what they actually do

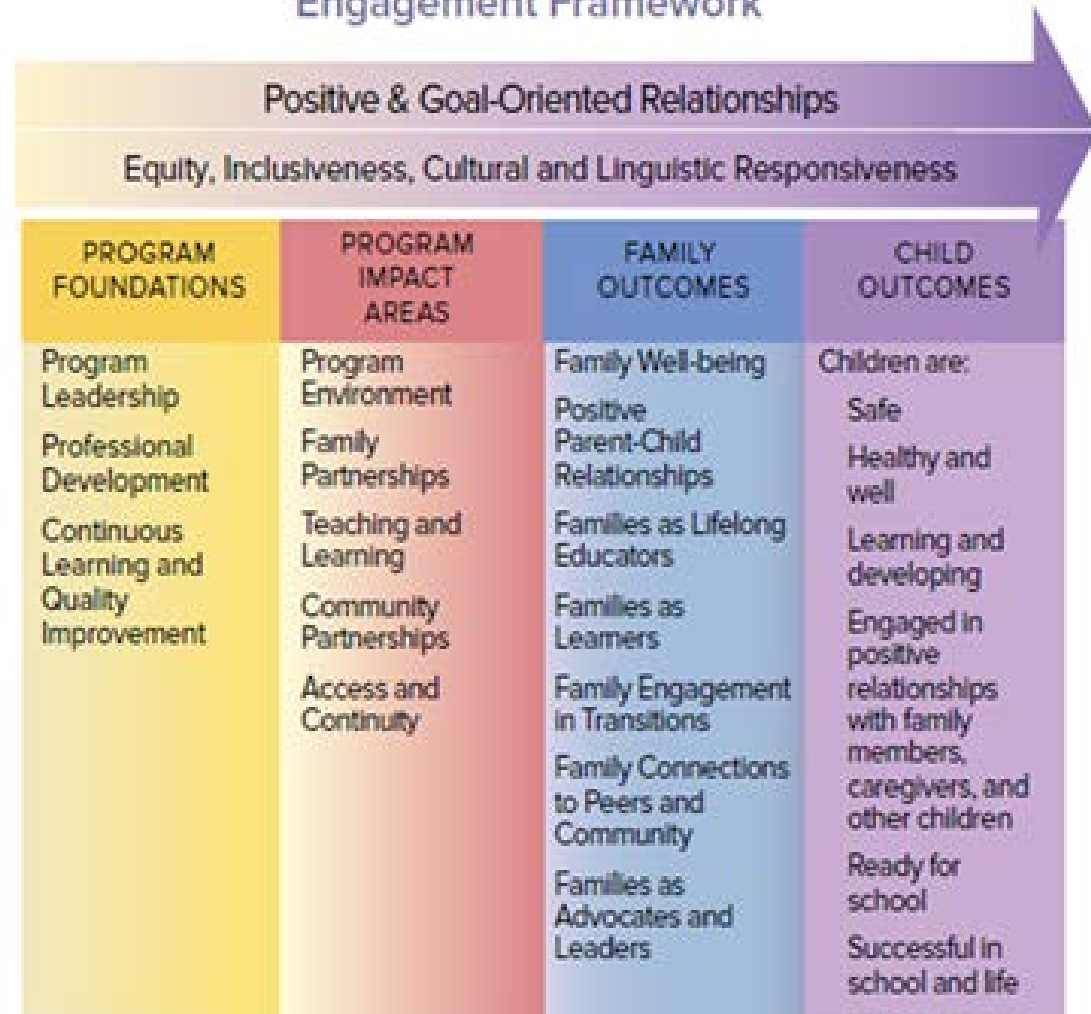

=

Professional Practice is a combination of knowledge, skills, and individual practices that are measurable or observable, and describe what a person needs to know and how to do the work successfully.

Foundation of the RBCs:

Head Start Parent, Family, and Community Engagement Framework

Unpacking the RBCs

1. Positive Goal-Oriented Relationships.

Engages in mutually respectful, positive, goal-oriented partnerships with families to promote positive child and family outcomes.

2. Self-Aware and Culturally Responsive Relationships. Respects and responds to the cultures, languages, values and family structures of each family.

3. Family Well-Being and Families as Learners. Supports families' reflections on and planning for their safety, health, education, well-being, and life goals.
